Response to the draft plan which includes a football/cricket oval, netball courts, athletics oval, aquatic centre, soccer pitch, multi-purpose pitches, eight tennis courts, event space, skate park, pump track, walking/running tracks, and dog park, has been generally positive.

support for the draft master plan of the proposed sports and recreation centre, on the corner of Phillip Island Road and Ventnor Road in Cowes.

Consultation sessions were held last week, with another on Wednesday May 3 and many others opting to respond online, with consultation closing May 17.

The draft plan includes a football/ cricket oval, netball courts, athletics oval, aquatic centre, soccer pitch, multi-purpose pitches, eight tennis courts, event space, skate park, pump track, walking/running tracks, and dog park. There are also spectator shelters and a pavilion incorporating change rooms, canteen, storage and toilets, as well as two carparks providing 711 parking spaces in total.

Community members at the sessions applauded the plans, with one describing them as "well overdue".

Project Manager Emma Allsop stressed the importance of community input.

"We've got the advice from the consultants, but at the end of the day, we are delivering this for the community and it's important to get it right for

As well as providing upgraded sporting facilities, Ms Allsop said

The community has broadly voiced one of the aims of the precinct was to involved it would be a staged project, get people reconnecting through the space.

She said feedback collected so far included catering for additional, or new sports including hockey, archery and softball, as well as maximising the multi-use spaces.

"We are getting really positive feed-

Once the consultation period finishes, feedback will be collated to see what changes to the plan are needed.

Master plan

Several people at the consultation events asked what would happen to the existing Cowes recreation reserve on the corner of Dunsmore Road, Church and Chapel streets.

Shire major projects manager Damian Prendergast said the current reserve was three-quarters owned by the Crown, with the shire owning the YMCA section.

"There are no plans for the current site," Mr Prendergast said.

"It's out of our control what happens to Crown land.

Many respondents have also questioned whether the proposed recreation reserve will happen "in our

Some clubs such as soccer, had newly upgraded facilities and have already indicated they were not keen to leave their existing facilities. Others, like the Football Netball Club, were bursting at the seams.

Although final staging had not been determined, the project is likely to begin with less-expensive sections.

"We are going to need government funding and it will certainly be a staged delivery," Mr Prendergast said.

"There will be money available for certain aspects and we will be able to start on aspects like vegetation."

The final master plan is needed for future grant applications, to help fund the multi-million-dollar development. With both state and Federal budgets tightening in the aftermath of Covid, project funding could be hard to secure, especially for high-cost items like the Aquatic Centre.

The Phillip Island centre is part of the Council's $79.3 million two-pool strategy.

The Victorian government has ramped up its support for off-leash dog parks, through its Suburban Parks program and grants programs also exist that provide funding for play spaces, pump track and skate parks.

Safety

Although most feedback from the consultation sessions related to specific use of areas, or adjustments to proposed facilities, Cowes real estate agent Greg Price raised several safety concerns about the current plan.

Greg said the amount of vegetation would affect the BAL (Bushfire Attack Level) rating for the precinct.

"Some of the proposed vegetation works would preclude the precinct from being a safe haven," he said.

He believes too much vegetation around the running circuit could be an issue, and it needed to be well lit. so that people felt safe using it.

"The revegetation is just not practical." he said.

"The plan has about a third of the area revegetated. But this is a recreation area, not a wildlife reserve."

He also raised safety concerns about the planned lake, with its pedestrian circuit, saying it was a drowning risk.

"It has got to be fenced. It's a public safety issue with kids."

However he applauded the council for holding the open sessions.

'This is such an important project for generations to come and they have to get it right," Greg said.

Secretary of the Phillip Island Aquatic Centre Fund Peter McMahon said members still wanted a hydrotherapy pool and a 50 metre competition size pool, rather than the proposed 25-metre pool detailed in the 2022 aquatic feasibility study.

"We are happy with this master plan," Mr McMahon said.

"The major problem is the danger of the entry and exit. It's ok if you're driving into Cowes on the Phillip Island Road, but if you have to turn across traffic on a hectic day it will be a big problem. It should be entry off Phillip Island Road, exit off Ventnor Road,"

Primary School as her parents had recently bought a holiday home in Cowes which she lived in for her first 11 years.

Principal Rodney McKenzie praised Chris' "tremendous dedication and commitment".

"It is an amazing feat to teach at the same school for 45 years.

"As many of you know, Chris has been an integral part of our school community, and her contributions have left an indelible mark on our school's history.

"Her unwavering commitment to our school has been an inspiration to all of us, and we are grateful for her tireless efforts to make our school a better place."

Mr McKenzie said Chris' contribution to the establishment and operation of the school pool deserved special recognition.

"Chris was instrumental in setting up the pool and worked tirelessly to maintain it over the years, often giving up her personal time to ensure that children learnt how to swim and enjoy water safely.

"Chris spent many hours during her January school holidays running a carnival in the main street to raise money for the construction of a pool.

"She also contributed her own money to help make the construction of the pool a reality. After the pool was built Chris would open it after school over Term 1."

He said her voluntary hours at the pool benefited generations of students, allowing them to learn to swim and enjoy a variety of aquatic

Chris represented Victoria on numerous occasions as a swimmer and used to walk 8km one way in order to attend swim training whilst she was at teachers college.

She listed professional learning opportunities, her successful submission to have the pool built, leading mathematics across Gippsland and being part of the committee that established the Early Learning Centre as part of her career highlights.

Over her long career, Chris observed many changes, including advances in technology,

Smiths Beach fatality

Police said a man had a "medical episode" while body boarding at Smiths Beach last Wednesday, April 26.

It's believed the man suffered a heart attack. Police and ambulance officers attended but unfortunately the man was unable to be revived.

The beach was not patrolled at the time. Woolamai Beach Surf Life Saving Club (WBSLSC) confirmed the last patrol for the season was on Anzac Day, April 25.

Ryan Box, Director of Communications for the club said the 2022/23 patrol season had concluded and would reopen at Woolamai, Smiths and Cowes again near the start of summer.

Phil Dressing from the Smiths Beachcomber Association, passed on the association's heartfelt condolences to the family of the man who died.

Mr Dressing said he did not believe it was practical or possible for WBSLSC to guarantee all year-round patrols, but this latest incident should be a catalyst to reignite discussions around beach safety.

"Perhaps surf lifesaving flotation devices could be provided on the beach for emergency events," he suggested.

"Even better, why don't we facilitate a discussion with Life Saving Victoria, Bass Coast Shire, Phillip Island Nature Parks, Woolamai Beach Surf Life Saving Club, Phillip Island Boardriders Club, surf schools, related community groups and others to think tank possible solutions to mitigate the risks of drowning in surf.

"Perhaps it's time to reinvigorate the think tank."

Bass Coast is considered one of the state's key blackspot drowning locations, including for rock fishermen.

In 2022, it was announced that three high-risk locations around Phillip Island and San Remo would be included in a state government trial requiring anyone rock fishing to wear a life jacket.

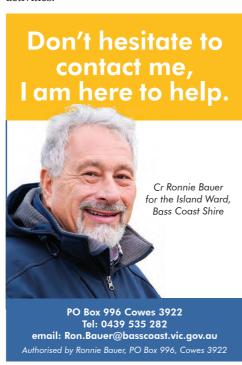

In February 2022, Life Saving Victoria announced Woolamai Beach would be part of a trial for interactive, electronic drowning prevention signs.

Lawyers for owners of the land at Newhaven West, which overlooks Churchill Island, have dismissed environment and infrastructure concerns raised by residents and conservation groups.

Lawyers brush aside resident, environment questions

Lawyers for developers have dismissed environmental and infrastructure concerns raised by residents and conservation groups in the final week of the Distinctive Areas and Landscapes (DAL) hearing.

And developers have sought to undermine the DAL, arguing more work was needed so it should be delayed.

A representative of Newhaven West owners - Howard Verwey, Geoff Moed and Panny Letchumanan from the chocolate factory - gave their closing submission.

The DAL states the town boundary for Newhaven would end at Boys Home Road, but the landowners are seeking to rezone for future subdivision their land behind the chocolate factory down to the water's edge overlooking

A fortnight ago the Phillip Island Conservation Society said any subdivision would impact on the adjoining Western Port Ramsar habitat.

However, Joe Grech from Human Habitats last week said urban development at Newhaven West would not "not threaten Phillip Island's character" or the neighbouring saltmarshes and wetlands of Churchill Island

Mr Grech said the entry to Phillip Island at Newhaven was "an urban experience with no green breaks of any significance", and had "limited views across unremarkable farmland".

Cape Woolamai, Surf Beach

Best Hooper Property Lawyers' solicitor Geoff Lake last week gave his closing submission, representing the 48ha Phillip Island airfield site at 1 Veterans Drive and 34ha at 87 Back Beach Road, Smiths Beach.

Mr Lake said community and conservation groups had not made many submissions to give us cause to respond to".

A fortnight ago the Phillip Island Conservation Society (PICS) challenged Mr Lake's expert witnesses, especially ecologist Brett Lane, who said the Penguin Parade was an example of high human visitation that has benefited con-

"However, we wish to point out this colony was declining toward extinction until urban development was removed from the Summerland Peninsula by compulsory acquisition and dusk closures of the peninsula began," PICS said.

Mr Lake last week briefly responded to the PICS submission, ignoring the large bulk of PICS' evidence.

He reasserted his expert witness gave evidence that supported urban subdivision in Cape Woolamai and Smiths Beach.

"Expansion of urban development can occur without impacting ecological values," he said.

Last month the Small Town Coastal Alliance (STCA) - which represents about 15 Phillip Island and Bass Coast community groups - gave evidence stating developers wanting to expand the boundaries of small coastal towns hadn't considered the "broader picture", from medical services to stormwater capacity.

"Do these towns have the infrastructure capacity to expand beyond the boundaries proposed?" STCA said.

"Not one of these experts have addressed these issues. Their focus has been on justifying expanding the settlement boundaries based upon the demand for land and that the land outside the proposed boundaries is not sufficiently 'special' to warrant protection."

Mr Lake gave his own interpretation of ST-CA's comments, arguing he agreed more planning was needed before locking in town bound-

"We certainly agree with the Alliance's submission the broader picture needs significantly more work and analysis," Mr Lake said.

He cast doubt on the need for any settlement boundaries in Bass Coast, particularly his clients' land, saying more planning work was

"We say it's premature to close off the bound-

He said his economic expert witnesses had shown that "consumer preferences and lifestyle reasons" should mean all Bass Coast towns were open to development and not just Wonthaggi, where the majority of development has been planned.

DAL hearing closes with a slap down

State government lawyers have rebuked Bass Coast Shire in the last day of the planning panel hearing for the Distinctive Areas and Landscapes (DAL) project.

The shire appeared to di-lute some of its support for the DAL, siding with developers' lawyers who have argued no town boundary should be locked in - to protect areas from further development - until more work is carried out.

And the shire also said they didn't have the money to do the work required to carry out the work of the

But the government last week pushed back on these claims, also discrediting assertions made by developers.

Shire lawyer David Vorchheimer gave his closing submission on Thursday, saying council did not support locking in settlement boundaries until further planning work was carried out, such as ecological and economic analysis.

"Protected settlement boundaries are a may not a must," Mr Vorchheimer said.

"(They) require caution especially in areas where population growth needs to be managed.

"It's not just a case of saying a landscape is of value, we still need to accommodate growth. There are a number of locations where questions need to be answered."

However, Planning Min-ister lawyer Rupert Watters challenged the shire's suggestion that further work was required before protected settlement boundaries could be applied to towns, adding the shire had effectively at the last minute back flipped on previous "full throated support" for locking in some boundaries.

Mr Watters said both Cowes and San Remo did not require years of work, but 'months potentially".

"We are taken aback and surprised by their (council's) submission today and it should be given no weight," Mr Watters said.

Mr Watters told panel members all the information they needed to make a decision on locking in town boundaries had been given during the panel hearing.

"We urge you to reject any deferral of a decision protected settlement boundaries).'

The Planning Minister's barrister pushed back at lawyers representing developers, saying just because they produced consultants who gave evidence that "yes land can be developed, is not a reason to develop it". He said settlement boundaries for Cowes and San Remo did not require years of work, but "months potentially".

Funding

Mr Vorchheimer said the shire did not have the resources to fund or deliver further planning work and the state government "ought to fill the gaps".

"We have to be realistic about this. This is a state government-led project," Mr Vorchheimer said.

"Council acknowledges the degree of work that has been done here. It has to be rounded out.

Planning Minister lawyer Julie Forsyth said she would not be drawn on the "allocation of funding between council and the state" to fund the DAL work, adding government made funding announcements.

Chair Kathy Mitchell added the planning panel's final report in the DAL for the Bellarine Peninsula recommended not applying protected settlement boundaries, which was then rejected by the Planning

Support

Mr Vorchheimer said the shire supported the beefedup planning controls to protect six Bass Coast areas that have been declared state or regionally significant.

These controls impact the coast and hinterland between Cape Woolamai and Ventnor, as well as the Rhyll Inlet, and areas north of Cowes-Rhyll Road to Newhaven, which includes land owned by developers seeking to subdivide at the Phillip Island airport site, Newhaven West and the 'Cadogan" land at Ventnor.

There was also broad support from the shire, the state government and the panel members on finding ways to better protect the Western Port Woodlands.

Push-back

Planning Minister lawyer Rupert Watters pushed back at lawyers representing developers, saying just because they produced consultants who gave evidence that "yes land can be developed is not a reason to develop it".

"There's always going to be some development capacity on any large parcel," Mr Watters said, explaining sites such as the airport land weren't suitable for development because of significant landscape and ecological values.

Mr Watters also pushed back at lawyers represent-ing developers who said land needed to be developed on Phillip Island to cater to homebuyer preferences, rather than towns like Won-

'There is no planning requirement that everyone is able to live where they would like to," he said, adding that as land supply diminished buyers will move to other

The state government requires each shire to show where 15 years' of population growth can be developed, with Mr Watters saying Bass Coast Shire has met that requirement and also exceeded it.

Cowes/Silverleaves: Land to the east of Coghlan Road should not be included in the town boundaries because it is a flooding risk and environmentally sensitive. The town boundary should not be extended over Cowes-Rhyll Road because of the rural hinterland behind this area.

Newhaven West: Land behind the chocolate factory running through to Churchill Island should not be included in the town boundaries because of its landscape significance. Even though the developer said views of housing development could be shielded from Churchill Island by trees, "people want to capitalise on views" and would remove these trees, according to the minister's lawyer.

San Remo: The Anderson Peninsula is "really significant", with the George Bass Walk a major tourism drawcard.

'We acknowledge San Remo's role to potentially take some growth and some pressure off Phillip Island. It's a balancing exercise," the lawyer said, referring to land between Potters Hill Road and Punchbowl Road.

"There is potential for expansion but it needs to be carefully done, with further work to interrogate that in detail."

Coronet Bay: Land between Coronet Bay and Corinella should not be developed because the size of the land was so large it would double the size of the town. - Cowes town boundary debated), the article reported on a submission to the DAL hearing panel from the owner of a 22-acre block at the corner of Coghlan Road and Cowes-Rhyll

The land in question is part of a large property, which consists of four separate lots. The article reported comments relating to different sections of the property, which did not properly identify which section was being discussed.

Lot 1 is zoned as farming, and always has been. This is the section the landowner says should remain within the town boundaries.

The article quotes the landowner's submission saying the council changed the land's zoning from conservation to farming "without any consultation from me". The changed zoning

In last week's Advertiser (Page 4, April 27 refers to Lot 3, which is located at the other end of the property.

Lot 3 is 80 acres near the wetlands and is the land that was offered as a gift to the Nature

The landowner acknowledges the environmental value of Lot 3, but says Lot 1 "has no significant environmental value".

Where the owner's submission states: "If the land is removed from the town boundary its value will significantly diminish and a building permit will not be granted given its size", it refers to Lot 1.

The article correctly reported the owner's submission stated they continue to incur ongoing holding costs on Lot 1, and if the proposed changes went ahead, the owner would "have a significant financial loss".

The Advertiser apologises for any confusion the article may have caused.

The barrister - representing owners of 140 Punchbowl Road (Springway Corporate Group) - last week gave her closing submission in the final week of the state government's two-month hearing on new planning controls for Bass Coast, under the Distinctive Areas and Landscapes project (DAL).

Springway, believed to be a Chinese investor, are seeking for their 124ha property to be included in San Remo's town boundaries.

Springway also owns land at Ventnor, which is also seeking to be rezoned for subdivision.

Two neighbouring landowners on the Phillip Island Road, who have a total 78 hectares (Adrian Abrahams and Franlaw Pty Ltd) between the Springway property and the Silverwater Resort - also gave closing arguments, arguing against a town boundary for San Remo.

Springway barrister Nicola Collingwood argued her client's land was well positioned for urban development on the land facing Phillip Island Road and tourism development on the area facing Bass Strait.

"There's no public groundswell of opposition – unlike in the Surf Coast DAL – to urban development of my client's land," Ms Collingwood said.

'I can't see any submission against urban development in this location. That is a relevant

Ms Collingwood acknowledged farmers had highlighted concerns around the loss of farmland

However, she said because her expert witness in planning hadn't raised this as a prob-lem proved there were no concerns around the loss of the Punchbowl land for agriculture.

James Hamilton of Ratio Consultants gave his closing submission on behalf of his clients Springway Corporate Group, who are seeking to develop 24 hectares at 34 Bingley Crescent, Ventnor.

He responded briefly to issues highlighted by the Phillip Island Conservation Society (PICS), who said any development on the Ventnor land would impact the environment, explaining former planning minister Matthew Guy controversially attempted to rezone the land for residential development in 2011, which underscored the need to prevent development now.

Mr Hamilton said PICS relied on "uninformed assumptions from dated planning history"

He reiterated the land should be included in Ventnor's town boundaries for residential development to help solve "housing affordability and diversity"

He said there were "no significant ecological restraints" on the Ventnor property that would "automatically sterilise" it from development.

DAL: what next?

The panel hearing the Distinctive Areas and Landscapes (DAL) has now closed, after listening to more than 70 parties and 30 witnesses over two months.

Panel members carried out several days of site inspections across Phillip Island, San Remo and Bass Coast.

They will consider all 750 submissions, not just those who made verbal submissions the report.

to the hearing.

Panel chair Kathy Mitchell noted they wrote to the Bunurong Land Council inviting them to the hearing, but did not receive a response to that letter.

The members will now prepare an independent report and have until June 23 to deliver the report to the Planning Minister, who is not bound by the panel's recommendations.

The minister has no timeframe to release

The group had previously held a demonstration outside the NAB in Thompson Avenue.

Six students from Newhaven and Bass Coast Colleges led the "teach-in" in the Inverloch Branch, explaining the bank is using "green-washing" to disguise their investments.

The NAB is financially supporting Whitehaven's Vickery mine in NSW," said Joey Thompson, 15-year-old Newhaven student and Phillip Island resident.

Last week (April 24), Phillip Island renews its funding for Whitehaven in June, "it will allow them to go ahead with the larger scale Vickery mine. This will mean 900 per cent more coal mined in the future"

A national campaign "Move Beyond Coal" is pressuring NAB to stop funding any corporations expanding the coal industry, starting with Whitehaven.

It says NAB has loaned hundreds of millions of dollars to Whitehaven Coal. Between 2016 and 2020, NAB lent $9.5 billion to fossil fuel companies.

"The NAB manager refused to listen to our concerns. It's our future we are talking about," said Tom, student from Phillip Island.

The NAB Branch closed for the morning, after the protest.

"We spoke to a NAB shareholder today, and he is following up our issues with NAB and coal mine funding. We know NAB are listening, and we are not giving up," said Joey Thompson.

Ann off to see the King for the coronation

Cowes' resident Ann Reynolds was just 11 years old when she attended the Queen's coronation, standing on The Mall for eight hours in June 1953 to catch a glimpse of Her Majesty.

"When the Queen died I made a flippant remark to Amber that I was in London for the coronation and my daughter said she never knew that.

Kevin said he called Triple Zero (000) around 9pm on Friday evening, after seeing a man lying in the front seat of a parked car who didn't appear to be breathing.

When he got through to the ambulance, they asked him to get into the vehicle and see if the man was breathing.

When Kevin opened the door, he confirmed the man, who was only wearing shorts and a t-shirt was breathing, but saw drug paraphernalia on the seat between his legs.

He called Triple Zero again for the police but said he was told there was no one available to respond

"In the meantime, the man woke up and drove off quickly and erratically," Kevin said.

"He drove straight through the roundabout at Settlement Road and was all over the road. If a car had been coming in the other direction, it could have been a disaster."

Acting Senior Sergeant Scott Morison of Bass Coast police said officers working in Cowes on Friday night received a call about the Raywood Avenue incident at 9.26pm and "attended shortly thereafter".

By the time the police arrived, the car was gone. Snr Sgt Morison said, "it appears the registration provided was incorrect".

Staffing levels

Kevin said the incident has reinforced his concerns about the level Friday in Cowes.'

he has raised numerous times in recent years.

In November 2021, he told the Advertiser, that as a local Fisheries officer for 42 years, he had worked closely with police.

He said the level of staff resourcing at Cowes was "far below adequate" on a normal day, but particularly in peak season and "the community is not aware of it".

At the time, Kevin said his concern was not with local police, but with command.

"There are not enough officers here to run a station, especially during school holidays and police need to address this. People don't know this is going on. The level of resourcing made available to this community is totally inadequate, abysmal. It's insufficient to respond immediately to people's safety.'

He reiterated those concerns this

"The question to ask is not how many police are rostered to the area, but how many officers are available to attend each shift on Phillip Island.

"The place needs a stronger police presence. It's very frustrating to me to see the way the place has declined in recent years.'

He also claims there was no one on duty in Cowes on the Friday leading into the recent Anzac long weekend.

Snr Sgt Morison refuted the claim. "Cowes and San Remo were rostered to cover the long weekend Kevin is incorrect when he says there was no unit rostered on the

Cowes Primary gym in line for prize

Cowes Primary School gym, designed by Project 12 Architecture. has been shortlisted for the Regional Prize in the 2023 Victorian Architecture Awards.

Victorian Architecture Awards celebrate the best architecture across the state, collectively showcasing the positive impacts of architects in shaping the built landscape for all Victorians. This year's shortlist has been selected by 15 independent juries following a rigorous entry and presentation process.

A total of 130 projects were shortlisted across 15 categories.

The Cowes Primary School gym is one of eight projects listed in the Regional Prize category, along-side the Warrnambool Library, Queenscliff Ferry Terminal and the Gippsland Performing Arts Centre in Traralgon.

Regional Prize Jury Chair, Justin Noxon (RAIA, NOXON), said this year's Regional Architecture category showcased a rich variety of commendable projects from around

The project's nomination stated: "Architecturally, the building has been designed to settle into the surrounding landscape using neutral and translucent materials. Views are intentionally framed out towards the bushland and through to the pool, always locating the build-

School Principal Rodney McKenzie said being shortlisted was a "wonderful endorsement for Project 12 Architecture".

"The gym has been such a great addition to our school and an asset to the broader community who access it frequently," Rodney said.

"This is the second award the gym has been shortlisted for which highlights its functional design, appealing aesthetics and careful integration with surrounding assets like the pool, tennis courts and sanctuary.

The gym won the Best School Project between $5-10 million at the 2022 Victorian School Design Awards in November last year.

In the next stage of the awards program, juries will visit the shortlisted entries to understand how the presentations align with the physical experience of being in and around the projects and then work through which entries are to be selected as winners.

Winners will be revealed at an awards evening on June 16. Winners of each category will then be eligible for recognition in the National Architecture Awards program, to be announced in November.

Councillors powerless to stop "cheek to jowl" development

A Cowes housing development that received 17 objections was approved by Bass Coast Shire councillors because VCAT would ultimately approve it.

The planning permit for 100 Church Street, Cowes, was approved for 10 dwellings in the residential zone, as well as removal of vegetation.

Submitters said they objected because of overlooking, loss of views and privacy, overdevelopment, and they said the townhouses were inconsistent with the character of the area, would be noisy, and used for short stay accommodation.

Shire planning officers recommended councillors grant the planning permit, saying "state policy envisages increased housing density in Cowes", adding the increase in population at this site was considered appropriate.

Cr Ronnie Bauer said he voted in support of the development but "I am not happy at all".

"By the Bass Coast Shire planning guidelines this development ticks all the boxes and yet it is this type of development that we should discourage for our island," Cr Bauer

"More and more we are seeing this type of multi dwelling infill development being undertaken which puts dwellings cheek to jowl with barely room for a flowerpot between the houses.

"One can't blame the developers trying to get the biggest bang for buck but the long-term consequence for our community is that we have to live with and look at the final outcome for years to come."

Cr Bauer said the shire's proposed neighbourhood character policy should be quickly adopted so it "retains some relevance".

"I see no point in objecting to this development as I am sure VCAT would approve it and any challenge to this application would be waste of money for council."

Cr Rochelle Halstead agreed, saying the neighbourhood character policy was on hold until the Distinctive Areas and Landscapes project concluded.

Cr David Rooks said residents needed to understand that if we lock in town boundaries, "which people have been calling for", then there would be more "high rises", before he corrected himself and said "higher density".

Pickleball? Archery? Long wish list for rec reserve ments on the shire's online map of the master plan.

Those comments include new additions to the plan such as a pickleball court, hockey facilities, caravan parking and archery range, with many wanting even bigger facilities.

At the dog park, suggestions have included adding toilets, more shelters, bins and poo bag dispensers, as well as two parks - one for large dogs and one for small, and a call for the dog park to be larger.

"It needs to be at very least as big as the football ovals," Cheryl wrote. Jamie agreed: "Lots of dogs need lots of space to ensure safety by not overcrowding."

Sue said road access to the dog park would help those with limited mobility.

Several residents said the play space needed to be larger and a "destination" attraction.

"This is such an opportunity to make something truly great," Kristine wrote.

Megan went further saying while a bigger, accessible play area was needed, one with water play would be best.

There were also calls for the skate park to be bigger.

"The current skate park is bigger same time," said a resident.

Linda said there should be lighting at the skate park for evening use and the park should include "a progression from basic to more technical elements"

Some people thought 711 car spaces was too small, with Simon even suggesting wider parks for larger

One respondent said short term caravan parking and a dump point for visitors should be added to the master plan.

Football, cricket

President of the Phillip Island Football Netball Club Chris Ross wrote car parking around the oval was "imperative".

"If there is not any around the ground parking it would severely impact the club's finances," Chris said, adding people won't go to the football in bad weather.

Many respondents agreed.

"Country football needs this. We won't have big expensive grandstands and as a mum with kids at footy we need places to park and watch the game," Ilee said.

While Karen agreed - "half the fun is to be able to sit in your car in the middle of winter and watch and is already dangerous with the country footy", Las disagreed say-on cars and parking as close as humanly possible to where we are

Chris Ross said the cricket pitch should not be on the main oval.

"We have huge trouble with not having anywhere to train during preseason in late November as cricket has control of ovals."

Mitch said there needed to be a separate oval dedicated to cricket.

Build a proper turf pitch on the cricket oval and leave the footy oval without a pitch for year-round use for footy," Mitch said, adding "turf pitches don't work on footy ovals".

"Having a dedicated cricket ground with turf pitch and turf nets will help the cricket club thrive."

The addition of a rectangular soccer pitch had Megan asking "would this be a new club" given "we have an entire soccer club at Newhaven that has just had the facilities upgraded".

Jen said the three proposed multipurpose pitches should use different coloured lines for different sports, even enabling a Bass Coast hockey

"There's a huge lack of hockey facilities in the Gippsland/Bass Coast region," Jen said.

Heck said the highball basketball courts should be expanded and allow training and competitions, while Carrie thought there should be at least four basketball courts.

Following wide community consultation on the pool strategy last year came further support for a hydrotherapy pool, and a 50-metre pool rather than 25 metres, which has been proposed.

"The pool should be a 50 metre standard to allow for growth of the Phillip Island Swimming Club, with sufficient lane space to cater for swimming lessons and aquatic activities at the same time," Steve said.

"Having to travel to Wonthaggi and share an already over-crowded pool is hard enough for the growing Heck wrote: "Considering the projected population growth at San Remo and Phillip Island in the next 20 years, a larger swimming pool would be fantastic.'

"As a tourism winner add slides, floating pontoons and waterspouts, Maggie suggested.

There was also a call for an allabilities pool.

Trev said given the high numbers of gym goers, there needed to be a designated indoor gym.

Concerns

Concerns have also been highlighted with several commenting the amount of vegetation could be a fire hazard - although some said more vegetation would provide shade and there should be proper irrigation to stop it becoming a "dust bowl".

"We need trees but not in areas designated for future recreation." Ilee wrote.

"This is shortsighted. Keep the space open for in the next 50 years. We don't know what sport or community space we might need."

Respondents thought the lake would be a liability for small chil-

WORD

What do you think about the master plan for the recreation reserve?

Greg Price, Cowes - I'd like to see some parking around the oval. I'd also like to see less vegetation – we could need those areas for more things and the vegetation will affect the BAL (Bushfire Attack Level) rating. I'm all for planting trees, but it is madness to plant vegetation up against the wall of the Aquatic Centre. Revegetation looks great on a plan, but they're not thinking about future use. The dog park area needs to be bigger, with separate big and small dog areas. It needs shelter, toilets and a water feature. It's a great plan, but needs some fine tuning. It is exciting for the community. I imagine development will have to be staged, due to the cost. Council should be commended for having these consultation sessions - ultimately it will get a better result.

Don Turner, San Remo - I can't see a major problem with any of it. People are keen to see things get started. It's 13 years since the land for the Hilton Chadwick reserve was bought. I wish we could get on with it and get it all done. As for the pool – it's great that we have got to this stage of the master plan and hopefully it will lead to detailed planning as soon as possible.

Peter McMahon, Cowes - Secretary of the Phillip Island Aquatic Centre Fund.

We are happy with it, but the major problem is the danger of the entry and exit. It should be entry off Phillip Island Road, exit off Ventnor Road. There should also be protected quiet zone buffers of about three metres to protect neighbours. And the big question is the timeline for Julie Newman, Cowes - I'm most interested in the dog park. I think it's excellent, but the bigger the better. There's a fence separating small dogs from large dogs, but I think there should be a time out zone for dogs that are misbehaving. They have this in Western Australia and it works well. There should also be good security and lighting.

Carmen Bush, Rhyll - I think this is great. It's a great family attraction; it has got everything, covers all age groups and all interests. The only think that is missing - a lot of people want a BMX track, but I don't know if you could have that in there. It has multi-purpose fields and there is so much flexibility. They've done a great iob. It looks terrific.

Brydon Marshall, aged 12 - Plays for Phillip Island under-14 football and also under-15 cricket. I think the whole plan is a lot better than what we have currently at the Cowes recreation reserve. I think it will be great to get people out of their cars and sitting on seats around the ground. If it's cold I reckon put on a jumper and jacket or people can watch from the pavilion. I do think the cricket pitch shouldn't be on the main football oval, but on the second oval.

Chervl. Cowes – I'm interested in the dog park and I think while there are toilets and a picnic area around the whole recreation reserve, there could be more near the dog park. I understand fine detail is not in this map but there should also be shelters, bins, dog bags, all those kinds of details. When is it going to happen? Are we going to be around long enough to see it?

Glenn Plymin - Secretary of the Phillip Island Football Netball Club, cricket umpire for the Leongatha League. I love the concept but there needs to be parking around the football oval. Country football, especially older people, need to sit in their cars around the ground. The cricket pitch should not be on the football oval, especially if they want to make it the premier football ground for finals in West Gippsland football. There needs to be funding for the whole concept. We have a healthy scepticism whether it will happen in our lifetime. But it's needed. Our juniors have their numbers capped, with many who can't play because of current limited facilities.

Youki and Peter Innes - I won't be around to see it, especially as governments don't have any money. It will be Youki's children who will enjoy the benefits of this reserve. Also what's going to happen with the current Cowes recreation

Another PICAL departure

Two months after PICAL announced its general manager would be departing, the centre has farewelled its president

Phillip Island Community and Learning Centre president Jeff Floyd last month told PICAL's annual general meeting he would be leaving the post immediately, with new president Graeme Turner elected as both president and treasurer.

"I have been on more than 40 boards and seen the problem when people stay too long in these roles," Jeff, who was also on the board of Nature Parks for about six

Judi Pay set up We Are Phillip Island after she moved to the island several years ago, saying a business and community website was needed.

Connecting the island

The "We Are Phillip Island" website is the brainchild of Judi Pay, who moved to the island several years ago.

The idea came about several years ago when I first moved here, to finding a tradesman that was local," Judi said.

"I have always been passionate about Buy Local, and after talking with locals, I realised a business and community website was needed for Phillip Island."

Judi set out developing a comprehensive website that is easy to read and navigate. The 15 categories include everything from accommodation, food, health, through to trades and Bass Coast Sustainability Festival is taking shape!

This year's Bass Coast Sustainability Festival on May 21 from 10am-3pm at the River Garden in Bass, is shaping up to be an informative, entertaining, and inspiring event for all ages.

Organised this year by Bass Coast Landcare Network, a gold coin donation entry will get you lots of free activities to keep the adults and the kids entertained.

The day includes fantastic speakers on the event stage, hands on gardening demonstrations, a new documentary screening, Eco arts workshops and performances, a dedicated kid's zone with environmentally themed activities and crafts, a chance to browse the latest in sustainable products from exhibitors, and delicious food to keep you going all day long.

The River Garden and the heritage listed Bass Community Hall is an exciting space for the festival, with swales of vegetables, herbs and fruit trees, a nuttery and orchard, all surrounded by the beautiful Bass River.

Activities confirmed so far include a Welcome to Country Smoking Ceremony with the Bunurong Land Council Aboriginal Corporation, hands-on nodig and wicking bed gardening demonstrations with Permaculture guru Ric Coleman, environmentally themed drop-in style kids' activities and crafts with Sue from Phillip Island Eco-Tours.

There's also a free screening of the new documentary film "Greenhouse" by Joost in the Bass Hall.

Bookings will open soon for limited space special workshops from the Eco Arts "For our Future" Project to be held in the Hall.

These will include an "Eel Dreaming listening circle" with Uncle Steve Ulula Parker and a "Celebrating Waterways with art, storytelling, and science" workshop with local children's book author and Climate change and Environment advisor at Westernport Water, Meg Humphrys.

Also, from the Eco Arts Project we will see a fantastic lunchtime stage, led by Laura Brearley featuring a collection of "Songs of the Living World" recently published by Community Music Victoria.

Sponsors Bass Coast Community Foundation will be supporting speakers with short presentations on the main stage throughout the day, discussing sustainable agriculture and organic growing.

The main stage will also see presentations by Sustainability Victoria on the latest rebates to save you money, circular economy awareness with Replas, and more to be announced in the coming weeks.

New sponsor this year Ecoliv, will be opening up their Display Centre to the public on the day from 10am-12 noon, which is only 10 minutes away from the Festival at the Gurdies.

Festival visitors can drop by to see

Community Concert on the main a selection of sustainably designed and built modular homes that minimise negative environmental impacts, while maximising comfort, beauty, utility, and wellbeing.

You will be able to connect with various community groups at the Festival including the Energy Innovation Cooperative, Totally Renewable Phillip Island/Tenby Point, the Fixit Café, South Gippsland Beekeepers and Landcare.

You can check out the latest electric cars and bikes, buy some great quality garden tools from Gardenacious, beeswax wraps from Little Bumble Wraps, the Enjo fibre-based cleaning range, eat some delicious paella from the Melbourne Paella company, or grab a coffee, while enjoying the many more speakers, activities, and vendors to be announced in coming weeks.

Pop the date in your diary or calendar and look out for the full program to be published in early May on the Festival website.

There is still space for more stallholders and food vendors, so if you have a product, service or group related to sustainability, or sell delicious food, registration forms are also open at the festival website.

This event is bought to you by the Bass Coast Landcare Network with support from Bass Coast Shire Council, Westernport Water, Bass Coast Community Foundation, Western Port Biosphere, and Ecoliv.

How to celebrate Mother's Day

Mother's Day is an important day of the year for both mothers and kids that calls for a grand celebration. After all, your mum is the reason for your existence and she deserves all your love, respect, and attention. Depending upon what mum likes, there are lots of fun ways to celebrate Mother's Day.

Breakfast in bed

Start her day by organising breakfast in bed. Make her favourite food - maybe go through old family pictures, or enjoy pancakes, scrambled eggs or bacon and serve with a glass of fresh juice or a cup of tea or coffee

Sounds like fun reading at Cowes Primary

It's an exciting time to be in edu-ter three years of implementation, cation for everyone at Cowes Primary School.

Great new facilities and a new STEM curriculum are just some of the innovations in recent years.

And at junior level, the prep kids in particular were partying just before the Easter break, to celebrate a very special milestone ... the presentation of reading folders at the end of their first term at school.

A huge effort has gone in at junior level at Cowes in the past few years with the implementation of a brand-new reading program, the positive impact of which is exciting, say the school's prep teachers.

For the last three years, the junior school's teachers have immersed themselves in a range of professional development opportunities, relating to teaching reading.

As a result, based on evidencebased research and recommendations, and visits to other schools where teaching methods were shared, the school has adopted a new program, known as "The Science of Reading."

Research

"Some valuable changes in reading instruction were made, and af-our results reflect a very positive impact.," said the school's Prep Co-ordinator Cath Huther.

"We committed at the outset to being guided by the latest research to ensure that we deliver the best possible literacy instruction for every student.

"The Science of Reading research provides us with an evidence-based best practice approach to the teaching of foundational literacy skills. The prodational literacy skills. The program says a lot about how children learn to read; how to make sure every student learns to read; and what to do if a child encounters difficulty with reading.

"Research demonstrates that there is a known pathway to reading in the brain which relies on connecting speech sounds to identify the printed word, and the program is based on this finding," explained Cath.

"Instead of asking children to memorise words, letter sounds are introduced to students, who learn that a particular letter, or sequence of letters, have different sounds. After these are taught. words can be successfully sounded out.

There are 44 phonic sounds in all, taught in sequence and systematically, and readers are introduced sequentially as the children progress.

Students are presented with "decodable" readers, containing words with the letters that they are now familiar with, and can sound out.

"Children with disabilities, dyslexia, or no challenges at all, benefit from this method," Cath said.

"As the Science of Reading research points out, if a child memorises ten words, the child can read ten words. But if a child learns the sounds of ten letters, the child will be able to read 350 three letter words, 4320 four letter words and 21,650 five letter words. (Dr. Martin Kozloff, Distinguished Professor of Education).

"Children can pick up a reader with relative confidence, having the tools to identify words in the books they are presented with."

Cath said a huge amount of time, focus, and accumulation of resources has been spent at Cowes in the implementation of the Science of Reading approach.

"We have been working to build gram, and results are impressive.

"Other schools are also adopting our approach."

Parents are also involved on the reading journey with their "Children need practise with the phonics skills they are learning at school, and decodable books and passages are sent home.'

Cath said that a small percentage of students do still experience reading difficulty, but that an early intervention system is in place at Cowes.

"The best solution to any problem is prevention. Timely intervention is the safety net to 'catch' students before they become disheartened and fall behind.

"Lesley O'Donohue, the school's speech pathologist, provides asessment, resources and ongoing programs to cater for these students' needs.

"Intervention groups, run by teachers and support staff, at all year levels, delivers small group instruction at the point of need.

"Our aim is to ensure that every single child in the school, learns to read, and reads well.'

INGREDIENTS

Pastry 125g plain flour

Pinch of salt 25g cold butter, diced

25g lard $2\,table spoons\,milk$

Or 1 x 250g block of shortcrust pastry

Filling

125ml milk

175ml double cream 2 medium eggs

1 tablespoon chopped fresh tarragon

Salt and pepper

100g grated cheddar cheese 180g cooked spinach, lightly chopped 60g cooked broad beans or soya beans

METHOD

Sieve the flour and salt into a bowl; add the fats and rub the mixture together using your finger tips until you get a sandy texture.

Add the milk a little at a time and bring the ingredients together into

Cover and allow to rest in the fridge for 30-45 minutes

Flour the work surface and roll the pastry out to a 5mm thick circle, a little larger than the top of the 20cm tin.

Line the tin with the pastry, cover and rest for 30 minutes in the fridge. Preheat the oven to 190°C, and line the pastry case with greaseproof paper, add baking beans and bake blind for 15 minutes. Remove the paper and baking beans, and reduce the oven temperature to 160°C. Beat together the milk, cream, eggs, herbs and seasoning. Scatter half of the grated cheese into the blind-baked base, top with the chopped spinach and beans and herbs, then pour over the liquid mixture Gently stir to even out the filling. Sprinkle over the remaining cheese. Bake for 20-25 minutes until set and lightly golden.

After a two year break due to Covid, the Bass Coast Toastmasters group has started up again.

Toastmasters

The group meets every second and fourth Wednesday of the month, at the San Remo Hotel, at 7.30pm.

The not-for-profit group is open to everyone, and aims to give people confidence, by getting them used to speaking in front of others.

'It's a fantastic way to develop your verbal presentation skills, and for anyone that likes TED talks, it's also really interesting to listen to the other speakers," said one member.

Guests are very welcome to attend the meetings at no charge, to find out what Toastmasters is about.

The Voice and your vote

This is the first in a series of articles providing information about the Referendum for a Voice to Parliament, from the Bass Coast South Gippsland Reconciliation Group who support the Voice.

By Bass Coast South Gippsland Reconciliation Group

"I believe we are greatly blessed by First Nations Peoples, whose patience and grace, in spite of appalling treatment since the landing of the British, have offered non-Indigenous people the way forward in a peaceful, truthful and truly wise way." - Russell Broadbent, Member for Monash, in Statements from the Soul 2023.

The Uluru Statement from the Heart is about love and hope. It was developed as a consensus document in 2017 after a lengthy and broadbased consultation with and by First Nations people.

It is the last in a long line of claims and requests, since the nineteenth century, to listen to the voices of First Nations people. This time their appeal is directly to the people of Australia, not to government or politicians, inviting us to walk with them. This is our decision to make.

The three components of the Uluru Statement: Voice, Treaty and Truth, give priority to the Voice, as it underpins the other

Implementing a Voice to Parliament requires a change to the Australian Constitution in order for it to be above politics and not able to be removed at the whim of government, which has happened to key First Nations consultative committees several times be-

Our Constitution was written in a very different Australia. Self-determination, or deci-

Possum Dreaming as he journeys across country, from sacred waterhole to waterhole. So we have been invited to journey with the First Peoples of our ancient land.

We still considered ourselves to be British. Queen Victoria was on the throne. Edmund Barton, the first Prime Minister of the new Federation, believed the doctrine of equality was not meant to include racial equality.

Senator Pat Dodson surmised the Constitution was written in the "spirit of terra nullius". In other words, our Aboriginal and Torres Strait Island history did not exist, as if the only culture to be considered was British.

John Howard supported constitutional recognition of First Nations people in 2007.

Russell Broadbent MP, our local Member, has always supported recognition, and is a fervent supporter of the Uluru Statement and the Voice. He argues that our settler fathers broke the Commandments of "vou must not steal, murder, or testify falsely against your neighbour".

The simplest reason for needing the Voice to Parliament is that current policies to Close the Gap aren't working.

sion-making by First Nations people themselves, has always led to improved outcomes.

The Voice will enable First Nations community representatives, urban, rural and remote, to reflect the needs and priorities from the grassroots.

The Voice will provide better quality information about First Nations communities, leading to better quality laws and policies, better targeted investments, and better outcomes for First Nations people.

It will have no capacity to veto legislation if its advice is not taken. But the ability of Voice members to make representations to the executive (public servants and ministers) will allow their views to be considered from the start of drafting new laws, rather than at the end.

Australia has been handed a precious gift of 60,000 years of history and culture to be proud of. We have an opportunity for a historical unifying moment that will be nation-building.

Noel Pearson, well-known First Nations spokesperson, says this country doesn't make sense without this recognition. It completes the picture of the longest surviving culture in the world, enriched by British institutions and "the adorning gift of multiculturalism".

The Uluru Statement is asking the Australian people for a Voice, first and foremost so that the lives of First Nations people can be improved. This is the first step, with Treaty and Truth-telling to follow.

The next article will deal with how the referendum works and how the Voice will work, as much as is known. More details will be determined by Parliament after the referendum

Anzac disappointment

My husband is a veteran whose father died from injuries sustained from fighting in New Britain and New Guinea during WW2 and he marches as an ex-serviceman and to honour his father.

How disappointing the Anzac March was this year. I realise the ranks of veterans marching gets thinner every year but surely community groups could have filled the gaps. And where was the marching band? The representation from the serving sailors was minimal compared to other years and it was all over in five minutes. I joined my husband who had been marching, at the Cenotaph and the seats had all been taken by families with children and people much younger than my husband and self. Nobody offered us a seat. The invisible elderly. So we had to leave as I am unable to stand for any length of time. Will we go again next year? We will. Will we be disappointed again? Hope not.

Annette Cumberland,

Surf Beach drainage

Council states that it "has undertaken a feature survey so that stormwater drainage designs can be modelled accurately to treat a one in 100 year storm event"

Unless council is prepared to enter private property and remove and replace the under-capacity existing underground pipelines that currently run through a number of residential properties to cater for a one in 100 year storm, then these and neighbouring properties will be liable to flood worse than exists currently.

Council provided a typical section showing the road reserve formation will act as a channel and may flood the entire street approximately every five years. This option in theory is good for properties at the top of the catchment but could be devastating for properties in the lower parts of the catchment or for properties located in a depression or low point in the streets. In November 2022 a large number of properties in San Remo, Cowes and Cape Woolamai were flooded. That storm we were told by council was a one in five to one in 10 year storm. At present swale drains restrict the rate of flow of stormwater with ponding culverts slowing water. With underground pipelines, there is no restriction to water flow and stormwater will race downhill to the lower areas where pits, grades and bends will slow the speed of water to where it can surcharge out of drainage pits.

If you currently have flooding problems or have a house located in a depression or the lowest point of the catchment, I suggest that vou seek written assurances from Bass Coast Council that your property will not be subject to flooding with the new design. The photogenic Glen Street is an example of a large catchment area with incorrectly sized driveway culverts and a council pit on the eastern side of the street with an inlet too small and too high to accept the volume of water. This drainage issue has existed for decades and could have been removed by council at minimal cost but council chose to do nothing. Philip Davy, Surf Beach

Pool one step closer

As a former President of the Phillip Island Swim Club, I am delighted to witness the Bass Coast Shire's draft Masterplan for the Cowes Recreation complex. Since the purchase of the first half of the precinct by Council, some 13 years ago, it has been touted as the future home of the Phillip Island Aquatics Centre, as well as many other sporting and recreational activities. The Masterplan brings this one step closer.

Many of our local swimmers and surfers, as well as community members, were members of the Swim Club, where they were coached in efficient and effective swimming skills and techniques. Hopefully, this has contributed to keeping them safe while enjoying the aquatic environment that surrounds our beautiful island.

Just recently, a parent of a former swim club member (who is now in his mid-twenties), related to me her son told her he is pleased she per-severed with his swim club lessons, as he now feels safe when he is enjoying surfing.

I encourage all readers to jump on the Engage Bass Coast website and fill in the survey, while rating swimming/aquatics as one of the main elements of the Master-

Sensory success

I would like to send out a huge thank you to Phillip Island Nature Parks for their Sensory Night on April 30 at the Penguin Parade. What a sensational inclusion initiative that would otherwise exclude the ability for me to take my clients with disability to such an event. I appreciate the initiative may come at a financial cost to the parade for less numbers attending the evening but the cost of almight never be able to attend is priceless.

I am slowly seeing such initiatives at other events too. Well done PINP!

Lisa Webster, Newhaven

Bet each way

I would like to draw Bass Coast councillors and ratepayers' attention to the following statements made by Cr Michael Whelan and published in the Bass Coast Post under the by-line Knowledge Tap 2016. "Bass Coast Council's draft natural environment sustainability strategy document has been around for a number of months marked "confidential" Why, you might ask, would such a draft be confidential?

"Having just read the strategy, I am even more puzzled. It pays lip service to a sustainable environment through a series of motherhood statements ... It certainly does not create a clear sense of council direction.

The council should also offer facilitators to visit groups to explain the potential implications of a strategy and to capture their views and aspirations for Bass Coast's sustainable future. This process should seek to establish a contact list of interested parties so issues can be communicated to them as they arise.

"... where in Bass Coast does wisdom and experience lie? I am sure council officers have their share but look at our community and you will see an array of exceptionally qualified and experienced people. Some are retired, some are still developing careers, and some are exceptional amateurs. We have a wealth of knowledge that is poorly tapped if at all.

"By contrast, the natural environment sustainability strategy spent too much time as a confidential draft and would have benefited by stronger community and group input before this current round of consultation commenced ... The process of considering the council's objectives and measurable performance should be recommenced with a good deal more community consultation than has occurred to date.'

The above comments were made by Mayor Michael Whelan prior to his election to council. I would like to see the Mayor adhere to his views on transparency and community consultations. This is not a strong point of Mayor Whelan, having cancelled monthly Community Consultation meetings and refusing to read out questions at question time, plus not minuting these questions in the council monthly meetings.

The Bass Coast ratepayers deserve better from our elected representatives.

John Trigt, Surf Beach

Terrific footy day

Just sending some feedback on the Box Hill/Casey match yesterday. It was a terlowing those that otherwise rific day! How good was the weather too!

I took people with disability to the event and wanted to acknowledge how wonderful it was to have a dedicated disability car parking area. As is often the case at events, there is only a couple of disability parking bays available so to have an actual area dedicated was exceptional and really helpful in managing my clients.

Also well done to Bass Coast on managing a waste station. Another really important issue.

Well done to all involved. Lisa Webster, Newhaven

What a weekend of soccer!

The first round of our Mini Roos kicked off on Saturday at Newhaven with so many little future soccer stars taking the pitch.

It was a wonderful start to the day until the black clouds came over and brought with them the heavy rain, but did that stop us?

No way! Despite the wet our team's morale was high as kids celebrated first goals, made new friends and sold out the canteen.

Next week the Mini Roos hub will be hosted at Inverloch with games starting at 9am.

Sunday's games were played in beautiful Autumn sunshine with all teams bringing home the win for Round 2 (U12B Red and U17s with a

Phillip Island 12As

The second match of the season saw Phillip Island 12As vs Lang Lang at Lang Lang.

A bright sunny morning had the team up and about, restricting the play to the forward half for the majority of the game.

The ball moved quickly between players, utilising the space down the wings just like coach Callum asked them to.

Managing to mostly avoid the distraction of three paragliders launching from the oval next door, Phillip Island went into the half time break 10-0 and closed off the game 15-0.

Goals were spread through the team with multiples scored by Angus F. Kaylan C and Toby O and single goal scorers Hunter J, Nash A, Taj K and Sebastian S.

Phillip Island U12 Blue

The Breakers played at Newhaven on a beautiful day against Inverloch, which was coming off a win in the first round.

The kids played excellent football and showed great determination in warm conditions to win 6-3.

It was a great contest to watch and well done to Inverloch for a great game. Once again, our nine-year-old (soon to be 10) Harry starred with four goals.

Henry scored one and Blair another. Hailey, Ariana and Ebony were also very strong on the ball and ran all day.

Phillip Island U14

Another solid group performance from the U14s team this week against the Leongatha White team at their home ground.

The Breakers went into the half time break with a 3-0 lead and came out with even more determination to Every single player did their part to bring home the win, Hamish D was yet again fantastic in the goals dehard all game and Harvey seemed to be everywhere!

Jasper scored three goals while Kade, Hamish F, Jakob and Sam all contributed their one each to give us a final score of 7-1.

Phillip Island Reserves

It was a lovely sunny day for soccer at Bellbird Park where the reserves game was held.

Coach Callum Golightly was keen for the win and instructed the team to start off strong right from the first

We had two debutants in Jad Ellaz and Anthony Petropoulas helping out the Reserves today.

Drouin were first to score through a controversial free kick, and as Keeper Tommy was still setting up the wall.

With 20 mins in Drouin, we're 1-0. The Breakers fought back with Dylan heading a beautiful goal past the keeper, then another goal from Dylan just minutes later before the half time whistle.

After the half time break the Breakers scored another goal through Jad Elaz with a lovely slide tackle on the Drouin defender, and getting to his feet quickly and slotting one passed the keeper, Phillip Island 3-1 at the final whistle.

Best on ground was Adam Zanella playing solid at centre back for his first time, Angus with his continuous running up and down the wing, and debut players Anthony Petropoulas and Jad Ellaz playing up front and constantly presenting.

Next week we're off to Inverloch. Go Breakers!

Phillip Island Seniors

Senior Men defeated Lang Lang 6-0. Goals: M Boulton 2. C Boulton 1. O Van der Zwet 1, N Cleeland 1 and A Dean 1.

Phillip Island Women's

Lang on a beautiful sunny autumn day. The island had five out from last week's team and warmly welcomed back some well-known Island veterans including Andrea, Benita, Pauleen, LJ and Kelly.

Lang Lang was keen to score, and they put pressure on Island's defence

Some good pressure from Andrea in goals forced shots wide and Helen made some very important and strong blocks in defence.

Lara beat her opponent down the left wing after some nice through passes and put some nice crosses in early, which island couldn't finish.

Megan made some long chasing runs back on her talented younger opponent Chloe to make a contest and halt her attacks. On one such attack everybody fending under pressure, Lochie ran drew breathe as Chloe broke free and her shot beat Andrea but struck the upright.

The nil-nil dead lock remained. It was a tight and exciting contest.

Under lots of pressure, Andrea was as solid as a rock in defence and provided some fantastic firm and low passes off the ground to help clear the ball and start attacks for the Island.

A cross from Kelly, deep in attack was helped on cleverly by Pauleen on the six-yard line and Lara had snuck into the box unmarked at the back post to bury the loose ball first time into the back of the net.

Big moment, big goal Lara. 1-0 breakers.

Not long after, from a Kelly corner, Pauleen's hustle in the dangerous area created another opportunity as sweeper Helen hit the back of net for another big goal.

2-0. LJ aptly cried go "hells bells". Lang Lang struck back with a welldeserved goal. 2-1.

Benita worked hard in midfield, doing a lot of running and important defending.

LJ playing at central defensive midfield was very well positioned to hold up numerous Lang Lang players.

A further series of corner kicks this time saw Yarlini get a touch on the ball in a desperate goal mouth scramble to score 3-1.

Then Kelly's sweetly timed left footer gave the keeper no chance - 4-1 and the half time whistle blew.

Young Petra's confidence grew as the game went on and she was the first to ball on every occasion in the second half and beat her opponent every time.

LJ got more space on the ball pressing further forward and played some good passes into dangerous areas. one of which led to Helen hitting an absolute cracking strike into the back of the net from the 18-yard line.

New player Megan would not be beaten in defence.

Kelly hit numerous great crosses The ladies played away at Lang into central striker Pauleen from out wide and after some bad luck, Pauleen finally buried a nice goal for herself.

Kelly found more composure late in the penalty box and danced through the defence to finish a couple more goals one of which nicely set up by LJ.

Yarlini ran hard all game, got involved in a few attacks and will have learnt a lot from the experience. It was fantastic team win that took a lot of hard work and would not have happened without every player doing their part for the team

Goals: Kelly 4, Helen 2, Yarlini 1, Pauleen 1 and Lara 1.

Round 3 will see our U12b Red, U14, U17 and Reserve teams playing at home in Newhaven while our 12B Blue team head to Korumburra and the rest of our teams enjoy a welldeserved week off with a bye.

(3) and Michael Waring (L).

Winners of Midweek bowls played at Koo Wee Rup were Peter Gratten (S), Laurie Bell

The Midweek bowls game was held at Koo Wee Rup Bowls club.

What a day, as the 26 players walked out to start the games, the heavens opened up and the rain started to come down.

Luckily, although the rain was constant (and quite heavy), it did not pour down too heavily and we still managed to play, although everyone would bowl, then have to make a dash for shelter. This made for a difficult first game with most people having a bit of trouble holding onto and managing to control their bowls.

However, we all managed to get through the wet morning without shortening the game.

After lunch the day cleared up and no more rain fell. This certainly turned the games around a bit and put everyone on a far more even keel.

A reasonably good day for the RCH with a few wrong bias bowls being sent down.

Keep up the good work bowlers.

Winners on a score of 39 were: Peter Gratten (S), Laurie Bell (3) and Michael Waring (L).

Runners up on 27 points were: John Nicholson (S), Gillian Harper (3), Gwen Jeffrey (2) and Peter Thorley (L).

Best One Game on 20 points were: Michael Dady (S), Rob Jeffreys (3) and Tony Morris

A big thank you to Rex for setting up and clearing up the green. Also, to George for all his work behind the bar. Many thanks to Gwen for supplying her home cooked cake to some of our lucky bowlers. Thank you once again to Peter, Pauline and John for running the show. And a big hello to Ken, a newcomer to our Thursday family.

Next week we will be meeting at Lang Lang at 10am for a 10.30am start.

Looking forward to seeing everyone from Lang Lang and hope we get a few locals to join in with us. See everyone there.

Netballers take on Tooradin

A grade

After coming off a tough game against Inverloch, we came to Tooradin knowing it will be another hard match, but we were up for the challenge and gave it a red-hot crack.

We started a little rocky, but once settled we began to show our strengths and our dynamic shooting duo stepped up and gave the strong Tooradin defence a good run.

Our mid-court continued to work hard creating plenty of entries into the goalies and our defensive pressure slowed the Tooradin attackers down giving us our own chance to get back into the game.

We continued to hold the Tooradin advances of keeping the margin to only 10 goals. Overall, an amazing team effort.

Our additions this week included star defender Chloe in for her first game for the year, as well as Lauri and Leah coming out of retirement to wear the Doggies' uniform once again.

Tooradin have always been a competitive side, so we anticipated a strong game with lots of experience, strategic game plans out of attack and tough defence.

The game was exactly that.

From the first quarter, we saw Tooradin coming out of the gates strong.

Despite this, we persisted as a team by staying steady and composed and reading the play to pick out intercepts in defence.

Tori was pivotal in WD and the mid court, shutting down easy plays from Tooradin and directing the movement of the ball out of defence.

Rach, our untiring C, had the ability to always be an option but also create space for her teammates, in addition to persevering with tight defence.

Rose our reliable WA worked hard all day and show cased her fitness and smart play.

Bella and Nikki found their rhythm moving the ball around the ring and working with their teammates to score goals.

Leah's quick movements in the mid court created options and allowed for a flow down the court she even received a caution for her efforts in WD along with Tori.

It was our first game having our full team back from holidays and everyone came out firing.

This week we decided to try lots of different positions and plays to see what works for us.

Turns out everyone on that team can play nearly every position and it was really amazing to see how we all gelled down the court.

Tooradin were a really good side but our girls didn't drop their heads and you could see that in their game.

We had Ari and Amanda back this week and they stepped onto the court and absolutely dominated.

So good to see the girls all get along so well and really give it they're all.

The game started evenly with both teams displaying determination, but pretty quickly the strength of our mid courters who delivered clever options for our goalies and with a wall of defence, resulted in our girls taking the lead immediately.

Big night match for our Juniors

The PIFNC Juniors played under lights against Dalyston at the kennel this week.

A fantastic experience for all the kids.

With the Under 14s, Dalyston were missing a few kids, so in the spirit of the game, the Bulldogs gave three players each quarter, to make a game of it.

From the first bounce, it was clear the Doggies were keen to play.

A tap from Haydon Power, swift kick to Max Jess who delivered a pinpoint pass to Flynn Dengerink, resulted in the Doggies' first goal, all within 15 seconds.

Back to the centre, and the same play, resulted in another goal and that set the tone for the rest of the game.

Sam O'Garey and Al Szymanski dominated in the centre, delivering premium disposals into the Doggies' forward line at will, giving Flynn another three goals by quarters end.

Sam Fairthorne, Bryce Lawrence and Jem Hennekam seemed to be everywhere in the forward line and with Jesse Moschetti running up and down the half forward line, Dalyston had a hard time of it.

Doggies up by 56 points at the first change.

The second quarter was not much different.

Heath Bowen started to fire from centre half forward, kicking five goals in the quarter, with one from around 50 metres.

Phillip Island controlled the play all quarter, with some great running, ball movement and strong marks.

Caleb Cantwell showed some great skills and precise kicks, putting the Doggies well up.

The third quarter was much the same. Dalyston started to score with some great transition football, but the Doggies controlled the game. Marley Cabello, Zane Matthews and Mr. Football, Archie Williams, all played well.

Big Joe Kelsy stood strong, moving the ball back into the Doggies' forward line.

A great matchup with Heath Bowen playing for Dalyston at the time and Sammy O, provided great entertainment for the crowd down

The last quarter saw the teams moved around and captain Kai Cashman found himself full for-

The ball continued to be delivered there via Levi Addison, Duke Lawrence, Riley Herbert and Ollie Bain.

A strong mark by Sammy O and swift handpass to the running Cashman, resulted in a magnificent goal, in front of the adoring crowd. Phillip Island by plenty.

A credit to all.

The under 12 Red team travelled to Leongatha for our round two clash and were greeted with perfect conditions for footy.

We were at full strength, and it showed in the first quarter as our midfield quickly got on top and launched the ball towards our forward line and into the hot hands of Flynn Riley who was unstoppable with two goals.

Amelia Mahon provided the muscle on the inside as she crashed packs and made space for our outside ball winners.

Kai Opitz gathered the ball like a rover and snapped truly for a superb goal before three quarter time.

Dusty Naismith flew for everything in the last quarter and his attack on the footy created plenty of opportunities to rove off him.

Archie Robinson scored two quick goals from a set shot and then a silky left foot snap on the run.

The team once again worked for each other, smothering and providing shepherds for team mates to find some space.

The second match of the season was held under lights and was a great experience for the U10 Blue

The team had a full bench which saw all the boys and girls rotating on and off the field, giving everyone valuable experience.

The rain held off and the team had a fast and furious first half.

The pressure created by the ruck and midfield and the sharing of the ball gave way to some great goals by Kash and Ollie (Captain for the week).

The goal square rummage was excellent with Jett kicking two points.

The second half saw some courageous play, the team never left a ball un-chased and marks by Jye and Sam saw the mids holding the line, pushing us forward.

This play gave Jye and Jasper opportunities to score goals on the back of some great teamwork all Special mention to Eliza and Aria! Eliza for having her first touch of the footy in a game and Aria for showing courage after coming off the field with a sprained wrist.

Coming in fast in the PI Red's defence, Lenny Nolan and Max Robinson worked hard to keep the ball in the centre.

Great defence yet again in the second quarter, with Fletch Hennessy working his magic in the centre and Eli Long as centre half forward the pups showed how well they work together as a team.

Tate Steward smothered the ball like a legend leaving the Leongatha kids worried.

brigade of Noah Bee-Hickman and Ben Taylor leading the charge.

Saxon Mau in his second game for the Bulldogs was providing drive from the middle, and with the score 10-6 at quarter time, things were looking hopeful.

From that point, the Bulldogs were unable to hold-off their stronger opponent. Kicking with the breeze to the scoring end in the 2nd (and 4th), the home side was able to put on 12 goals to the scoring end, whilst the Bulldogs were unable to trouble the scorers to the non-scoring end.

Kirby Fuller continued his outstanding defensive work as well, but the tide from the locals was too strong to hold-back as they powered on for a decisive 94-16 victory.

First match of season for the Breakers

After a Round one bye, the Bass Coast Breakers travelled to Edithvale-Aspendale for their first match of the season.

While the Breakers started strongly with a lot of the play, their first quarter was a little rusty as evidenced by the score line with only two of 10 scoring shots converted.

By the second quarter both teams had settled into the game with less opportunities but a better conversion rate for the Breakers who led 5.9-39 to 0.0-0 at half time. By half time darkness had set in and the lights were on.

The Breakers pressure continued with Georgia Sharp contesting well on the wing.

Kate Thompson had an immediate impact in her first game for the Breakers marking strongly around the ground and finding space in the forward line - nailing the harder of her two shots at goal.

Island girls off to a great start

In perfect conditions the Phillip Island youth girls team got their season off to a flyer with a strong win over Korumburra.

Playing at home the girls seemed a little nervous in the first quarter and wasted several opportunities with some scrappy play and crowding.

Korumburra took advantage of this and were able to get the first major on the board.

The second quarter saw the Island girls settle and the move of Brinn Hamley to full forward provided a great target for the girls.

Brinn took control up forward and even though her scores resulted in behinds it was her effort and attack on the ball that got the girls moving.

Qiarshi Adams was elusive up forward, while Jade Ricardo, Ahlee Penry and Makenzie (Macca) Wain were solid across the middle and half back.

Bulldogs bite back in Grand Final replay

Round three beckoned with one of the toughest challenges in the West Gippsland League an away visit to last year's premier (and Bulldog conqueror) Tooradin.

The skies were foreboding as the faithful headed from the Island, amidst the pouring rain and slippery roads.

Upon arrival at Tooradin, lowand-behold, sunshine and relatively clear skies.

Combined with an oval in perfect condition, the challenge didn't look any less given the conditions favoured the type of game last year's premiers enjoyed. Last week's ordinary performance against Inverloch was in the rearview mirror, but how far all wondered?

Pre-game began with Tully Dickie presented with his gameday jumper, having been selected for his first game for the senior Bulldogs after two classy performances in the ressies.

With Eli Richards, vice-captain Daniel Pearce and Jessie Patullo back in, the loss of Jordy, the Sauce and ball-magnet Kimber was reasonably offset. Message from the coach - go fast, go wide and go hard!

In what many pundits were to conclude was one of the most exciting, exhilarating performances from a team in the local competition, the Bulldogs were unrecognisable from Round two.

Speed on the ball, slick and clean movement, hard inside. and quick on the outside, all of a sudden, the Bulldogs found themselves 4 goals to 1 in the first.

Jesse P on the move, and Trav up 74-35 at the major break. fence ragged.

Not to be outdone, the Seagulls rallied with three goals in the last five to level the score - ouch!

Quarter two began as Q1 ended, with the Seagulls scoring and all sudden in front. But then, wow! The next seven goals were from the Bulldogs, taking over all over the ground. Kai Mackenzie took running charge from the backline delivering to players all over the ground. By mid-way through the quarter, all forwards (yep all seven of them!) had goals. Jack Papas kicked one from nowhere, Bryce Hindhaugh took over on his wing, and Trav Woodfield threaded a beauty being highlights.

Ball movement was sublime, Eli Richards leading on the ball, and the Dogs found themselves

With Cam Pedersen dominating from the middle, and Daniel Bourke well on top of manmountain Piva Wright, the Dogs stemmed the tied.

The ball continued to ping from end to end, with the Gulls trying to make headway, and the Bulldogs continuing the brave and precise ball movement in response. Three goals to both teams in the third was just rewards for a fantastic quarter of football.

The last continued at the breakneck speed, with the Gulls pushing and probing and the Bulldogs

The Gulls continued right to the end, but with stern defence the Bulldogs finished up extending their lead to a well-deserved 44-point victory.

After game celebrations were strong, but with the full knowledge that this is Round three, and next week Nar Nar Goon await at the Kennel.

One great win doesn't a season make, but it certainly provided an indicator of the best the Bulldogs can put together being well on the pace at the top of the competition. Scores: Phillip Island: 4.2.26, 16.15.111. 11.8.74, 14.11.95, Tooradin-Dalmore: 4.2.26, 5.5.35,

Reserves

The Reserves entered the contest against undefeated Tooradin with the home side boasting a percentage of 600+ per cent after three games showing just how deep the Seagulls' depth runs.

Pre-game was highlighted by the inclusion of Dean 'The General' Blake on the rotations. Ben Strong playing his first game since 2016, and the return of that unflappable central umpire 'Damo' Prendergast. Cooper Logan back for his first game for Trav Woodfield continued his the year, and Robbie Linford back
